Veterans Touched by Overwhelming Support Shown Upon Return from Honor Flight 2023

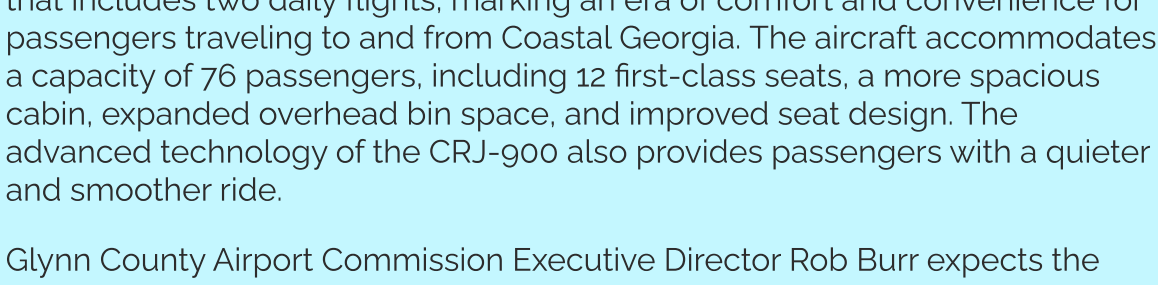

Men and women who bravely served our country were honored with a trip to Washington, D.C. on Saturday, May 13, as part of Honor Flight 2023, where they visited memorials and monuments. In a heartwarming display of gratitude and respect, an enthusiastic crowd of supporters gathered at the 67 veterans boarded the flight, and later returned to the Brunswick Golden Isles Airport. Veterans were greeted by a musical tribute of brass instruments, handshakes, hugs, and heartfelt expressions of gratitude.

Honor Flight of Coastal Georgia is an annual event that provides veterans with an all-expenses-paid trip to the nation's capital. Local sponsors include the Glynn County Airport Commission, Southeast Georgia Health System, The Brunswick News, College of Coastal Georgia, Topsy McFly's, Torras Foundation, Coldwell Banker Access Realty, Sweat's Furniture, Magnolia Manor Senior Living, Brunswick Golden Isles Chamber of Commerce, VanDerbeck Managed Technology and Share Care Services.

New Larger Delta CRJ-900 Aircraft Now Servicing BQK with Two Daily Flights

Delta's CRJ-900 departs BQK on May 1, 2023.

On May 1, 2023, Delta's new CRJ-900 aircraft began a flight schedule at BQK that includes two daily flights, marking an era of comfort and convenience for passengers traveling to and from Coastal Georgia. The aircraft accommodates a capacity of 76 passengers, including 12 first-class seats, a more spacious cabin, expanded overhead bin space, and improved seat design. The advanced technology of the CRJ-900 also provides passengers with a quieter and smoother ride.

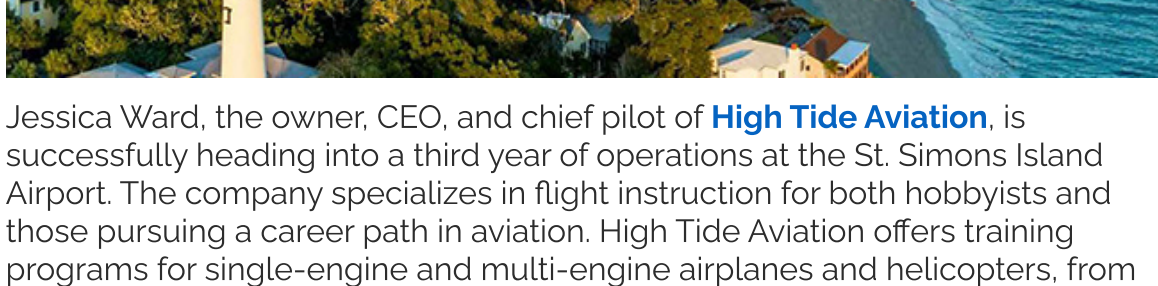

Glynn County Airport Commission Executive Director Rob Burr expects the flight schedule eventually to increase to three flights a day once the current shortage of pilots nationally is alleviated, so the larger aircraft utilized now to handle demand at BQK is greatly appreciated.

High Tide Aviation Flying High After Expansion to SSI

Jessica Ward, the owner, CEO, and chief pilot of High Tide Aviation, is successfully heading into a third year of operations at the St. Simons Island Airport. The company specializes in flight instruction for both hobbyists and those pursuing a career path in aviation. High Tide Aviation offers training programs for single-engine and multi-engine airplanes and helicopters, from the Private Pilot level all the way through Flight Instructor Certification (CFI).

The company opened on St. Simons Island as a second location in 2021 after 10 years of profitable operations in Southport, North Carolina, north of Myrtle Beach – a distance from St. Simons Island that's beneficial for short training flights.

Operations in Full Throttle at Savannah Aviation

Operations are in full throttle at Savannah Aviation and Manager David Scroggs is thrilled about the uptick in interest he's seeing from students and pilots who are participating in flight instruction and supporting their other specialty services of FAA certificates, ratings, and endorsements, as well as discovery flights around the islands, computer testing, maintenance and air charter.

In addition to its flight school, Savannah Aviation received its Cirrus Authorized Training Center status in 2021. Cirrus aircraft are among the most sought in general aviation, Scroggs says because they are easy to fly and the advancements in comfort, technology and safety underscore their investment in Cirrus.
